If interested in meeting Professor Alan Henrikson, please contact Mrs Caroline Vandebussche, Press Officer (caroline.vandebussche@coleurope.eu).

Alan Henrikson is Fulbright Chair in US-EU Relations at the College of Europe during 2010-2011. He is Director of Diplomatic Studies at The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University, where he teaches US diplomatic history, contemporary US-European relations, global political geography, and the history, theory, and practice of diplomacy. He has taught "American Foreign Policy Making" at the European Commission in Brussels. During the Spring of 2003 he was Fulbright/Diplomatic Academy Visiting Professor of International Relations at the Diplomatische Akademie in Vienna. He also has been Lloyd I. Miller Visiting Professor of Diplomatic History at the US Department of State, Visiting Professor at the National Institute for Defense Studies in Tokyo, and United Nations Development Programme Visiting Professor of Diplomatic History at the China Foreign Affairs University in Beijing.

Professor Henrikson received Ph.D., A.M., and A.B. degrees in History from Harvard University. He also is a graduate of the University of Oxford where he read Philosophy-Politics-and-Economics at Balliol College as a Rhodes Scholar. He has been a Fellow at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in Washington, DC. He also has been an Associate and Visiting Scholar at the Weatherhead Centre for International Affairs at Harvard University.

His current research focus is the diplomacy of the US-EU relationship, in the larger context of relations between the United States and Europe in the world.
