

Brugge

College of Europe
Collège d'Europe

Natolin

The College of Europe launches a call for applications for the “El-Hiwar Summer School on Euro-Arab Relations – Exploring Innovative Ideas to bring European and Arab Citizens Closer”

The College of Europe, as implementing entity of the EU-funded project El-Hiwar II, is very pleased to announce that the call for applications for its second summer school on Euro-Arab relations is open. The programme, focused on “Exploring Innovative Ideas to bring European and Arab Citizens Closer” will take place from 12 to 16 July 2021 fully online.

The programme includes five days to enhance knowledge of Euro-Arab relations, strengthen skills and explore avenues to bring citizens closer. More specifically it will focus on culture, youth, migration, mobility, and diplomacy.

The programme combines different formats in order to maximise the learning potential:

- Live interactive lectures;
- Dedicated workshops focussing on skills;
- “Meet the officials” sessions, replicating in an online format institutional study visits;
- “Ideas lab” sessions during which participants will reflect, brainstorm and exchange ideas;
- Social activities and opportunities to expand your professional network.

Applications are admitted until 25 May 2021.

The Summer School aims at allowing participants to “Learn, connect, network, and make their voices heard by contributing to the discussion on Euro-Arab relations”.

More information: <https://bit.ly/3n8pBqT>

El-Hiwar II Project contact persons: Ms Claire LAWRENCE, Ms Stefanie MAERTENS, elhiwarii@coleurope.eu

College of Europe Press contact person: Mr Glenn BOGAERT, glenn.bogaert@coleurope.eu

This project is funded by the European Union.